Press Release -

Update on Hailsham Market Planning Application

The continued existence of Hailsham Livestock Market is an important feature for Hailsham and the wider rural economy. Farmers depend upon the market to trade their animals and the wider area depends upon a thriving agricultural industry to maintain the rich and varied local landscape that we all enjoy.

It has always been made clear by the planners that, in any application for the relocation of the present Hailsham Market, they want to see details about the relocated market and the after use of the existing site submitted simultaneously and determined together.

Due to the planners raising additional matters that require some time to satisfy, as well as recent changes in the planning procedures, it was decided that the best course of action is withdrawing the present applications and resubmitting them when the applicants can satisfy all outstanding matters.

Until then, Hailsham Market will continue to operate as usual from its existing premises in Market Street.

It is reported that the French eat meat with additives that are banned from pet food! Peter Mandelson has declared that Blair took a £1 million donation from an animal rights group to ban foxhunting. Disgraceful!
